F. D. MERGER PLAN STARTS FIGHT

Job-Holders Worried; 15 Million Saving Seen

WASHINGTON, April 25 (INS)—With the warning, "we must be constantly alert to the importance of keeping the tools of American democracy up to date," President Roosevelt today submitted to Congress a program for sweeping reorganization of the government's credit, social service and public works functions.

The long-awaited reshuffling of federal agencies, proposed to Congress in a special message, was authorized in the government reorganization bill which was finally pushed through to passage after a two-year battle between the administration and Capitol Hill.

Unless rejected by Congress within 60 days—June 28—the program becomes automatically effective.

The President proposed establishment of a "federal security agency," "federal works agency" and a "federal loan agency."

Hardly had it been offered then the reorganization plan was assailed and defended in House debate.

JOB-HOLEDRS TO FIGHT

However, the real fireworks was expected to be touched off later. Leaders predicted a host of job-holders would move on the Capitol at once fearful mergers would mean demotion or loss of positions.

Representative Taber, ranking Republican on the reorganization committee, criticized provisions for merging of activities of the National Youth Administration, Civil Conservation Corps, WPA and similar activities.

"Those activities are and should be temporary and should not be merged with anything," said Taber.

Representative Warren (D.) of North Carolina, a leader in the fight for the reorganization bill, replied:

"I am convinced that on this plan the President has done a magnificent job.

"The answer to the statement just made is that the reorganization law provides that no reorganization shall have the effect of continuing any temporary or emergency agency beyond the time fixed."

Warren added that the temporary agencies will exist only as long as Congress permits.

SHIFT IN BUDGET

At the same time, the President proposed transfer of the Bureau of the Budget to the executive office of the President on the ground it was the intent of Congress "to set up an executive budget for which the President would be primarily responsible to the Congress and to the people."

Grouped under "federal security agency" would be: The Social Security Board, the United States Employment Service, the office of Education, the Public Health Service, the National Youth Administration and the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Merged into "federal works agency" would be Public Works Administration, Works Progress Administration, the Bureau of Public Roads, the public buildings branch of the Treasury Department's procurement division and the branch building management of the National Park Service and the United States Housing Authority.

The "federal loan agency" would include the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Electric Home and Farm Authority, the Federal

1st Lady Doubts 2 Sons Planning to Seek Divorces

WASHINGTON, April 25 (INS)—Two of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's sons may be contemplating divorces—but the First Lady doesn't believe it.

Questioned about rumors that Elliott and Franklin, Jr., were considering divorce, Mrs. Roosevelt told her press conference:

"I've long since ceased to worry about things that aren't true."

She said she was with Franklin, Jr., on Saturday and that he was "very happy," and that the last time she saw Elliott and his wife they were "very happy."

HAPPY NEWS—The Boston American brings news of the elevation of Francis Joseph Spellman to the Archbishopric of New York and these children, all pupils of Newton Center parish, show their joy in the honor paid to their beloved priest.

Bishop Spellman Gives Pledge Of Ministry to All Mankind

Pledging himself to a universal ministry to mankind, Archbishop Francis Joseph Spellman today bent to the task of concluding his affairs at Sacred Heart Church in Newton—readying himself to direct the destinies of the wealthiest diocese in the world.

For two weeks at least the newly-appointed head of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of New York will complete pending matters at his own church here.

Even a class of youngsters preparing to receive the sacrament of confirmation will be confirmed at his own hands prior to his installation and assumption of the throne in New York.

That installation will be the first since the late Patrick Cardinal Hayes—the churchman he succeeds—was installed as New York's spiritual leader 20 years ago.

Among his Newton Centre parishioners there was talk today of a big farewell party for the archbishop, but no definite plans have been made.

The archbishop said 8 o'clock mass today at Sacred Heart Church, then posed once more for cameramen—graciously, although he said he did not like all this show.

He had given the parochial school

Thief Grabs $1056 Near North Station

A bold sneak thief today snatched a briefcase containing $1056 from James W. Girard and fled as Girard, assistant treasurer of the York Ice Machinery Corporation, was on his way from a bank to the Industrial Building on Causeway street.

Girard, who had just drawn the money, said the thief came up behind him, shoved him, grabbed the briefcase and ran, police said.

$3,150,000,000 FOR ARMS LISTED IN BRITISH BUDGET

LONDON, April 25—Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, introduced Britain's largest budget since the World War in the House of Commons today and announced the government would spend £630,000,000 ($3,150,000,000 dollars) for defense and possibly more.

"The country is thoroughly aroused to further sacrifice," Sir John said in announcing the huge total for defense expenditures.

"There must be additional taxation," he warned an intent House adding, however there would be no boost in income taxes.

At least half of the defense costs will be met by loans. Britain will spend nearly 50 per cent of an estimated budget of nearly £1,300,000,000 ($6,500,000,000) for defense.

LIMITED CONSCRIPTION

Sir John spoke as some form of compulsory national service—perhaps a relatively limited measure at first—was reliably understood to have been agreed upon by the British government.

The decision likely will be made

B. U. Suicide's Body Found in Charles River

Led to drag the Charles river by a brief suicide note found pinned to a topcoat on the West Boston bridge, police today recovered from the waters of the Basin the body of Elmer Fortier of Dexter, Me., Boston University graduate student.

"This is a suicide," the note said.

Signed with Fortier's name, it asked that the student's two roommates in a fraternity house in Bay State road, Robert Brown and Alfred Clements, be notified.

ACT SHOCKS FRIENDS

Shocked by the wording of the note and later by the recovery of their friend's body, neither Clements nor Brown could account for the despair that must have driven Fortier to leap from the bridge.

"It's impossible to imagine his doing anything like that," they declared.

Fortier's marks were good, he was not under any emotional strain that either roommate knew of, and when they last saw him, yesterday morning, he appeared perfectly cheerful, they added.

WORKED TO GET FUNDS

A candidate for a Master's degree in mathematics, Fortier had graduated from Bowdoin College in 1936, and then worked two years to accumulate funds with which to carry on his academic career.

Part of the time he worked in Boston, according to friends.

Clements and Brown said they had not known Fortier before rooming with him at the fraternity house since the start of the semester. His closest friend in Boston, they added, is a Harvard law student, whose name they revealed.

When he first entered the course he registered in Revere street, Beacon Hill, moving to Bay State road only recently.

Authorities at Dexter said Elmer was the only son of Elmer Fortier, who recently retired as a druggist.

They said he had kept company with a girl in that town but had "broken up with her" last fall, just before starting for Boston.

Prayers of Invalid Girl Speed Bishop Spellman on Way

Out in Roxbury today, a 12-year-old girl who is filled with courage, lay quietly rejoicing that the man who is praying personally for her has been elevated to the high rank of archbishop.

She is Mary Garriott of Crosby place, bed-ridden for four years as the result of rheumatic fever which followed the scarlet fever when she was only two years old and which eventually weakened her heart.

But last Friday was a great day in her life—a red-letter day in her calendar—and sometimes the days of the calendar seem to go slowly for a girl who cannot leave her bed and take part in activities outside.

CONFIRMED AT HOME

It was on that day that Bishop Francis J. Spellman—now an archbishop newly-appointed to the Roman Catholic archdiocese of New York—called personally at her home to administer the sacrament of confirmation.

Mary is a member of St. Patrick's parish in Roxbury, and when Bishop Spellman confirmed this year's classes at the church, he was told of the little girl lying at home, unable to attend church.

He went immediately to the house and there administered the sacrament to the cheerful little girl who smiled at him with her hazel eyes.

The prelate told Mary he was going to pray for her and he asked if she would pray for him. Mary said of course she would.

HER PRAYERS ANSWERED

It seems very important to Mary that her prayers for him began only a few days before word of his elevation came from Rome.

The bedridden girl, despite the fact that she cannot attend regular school classes, has a seventh grade rating and her marks always are "A's."

She studies faithfully, and in between she crochets, knits, embroiders, reads or plays games with her sister Eleanor, who is 11, and her brother Joe, 22-year-old installer of radios.

Mary's mother is Mrs. Ann Garriott, a widow, and she is very proud of her courageous daughter—as well she might be.

WINCHELL GETS RAISE FOR GIRLS

NEW YORK, April 25 (INS)—Acting as impartial arbiter, Walter Winchell, the columnist, early today negotiated a settlement of the wage dispute between Billy Rose, Broadway impresario, and 200 of the showgirls and dancers in his aquacade at the New York World's Fair.

Sophie Tucker

The performers won their two chief demands—an A. F. of L. contract for the entire cast and an increase in pay from $30 to $35 a week. Winchell decided they should not receive pay for rehearsals, their third demand, unless an auditing of Rose's books on July 1 showed a substantial profit.

The settlement was negotiated in the early morning hours in the apartment of Sophie Tucker, president of the American Federation of Actors, an A. F. of L. unit, of which Winchell is an honorary member. Rose announced the show will open on schedule.

OOMPH? OOMPH!—Glamorous Ann Sheridan of the films poses prettily to show her "oomph" . . . the so-called IT quality that a score of Hollywood men-about-town declares she has to the nth degree. Which brings up Yvonne Du Val, French actress, who declares she originated the term (presumably to describe herself) and Ann can't use it. Oomph? Humph!

'Too Old' at 35 Easily to Get Job, Divorcee Faces Cut in Alimony

Slim and attractive, Mrs. Mary E. Hutchings of Watertown was hunting a job today—a job where the employer doesn't think a woman of 35 is "too old."

It's all because her ex-husband Clarence, Newton monument maker, won out in Middlesex probate court in his contention that business is too poor for him to go on paying $13 a week alimony.

Mrs. Hutchings argued against a slash in the payment, telling the court she had tried again and again to get work, only to be turned down because of her age.

However, Judge Arthur M. Beane decided Hutchings' plea was good enough and ordered alimony payments reduced to $8 a week, the order to take effect the latter part of June.

So Mrs. Hutchings has the remaining weeks to find her job—or live on the $8 a week.

It is her second "alimony cut."

When she obtained a divorce in a sensational suit on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment in December, 1935, alimony was fixed at $17 a week. There is a daughter, Priscilla, aged 11. This was reduced to $13 in January, 1937.

LOSES—Mrs. Mary E. Hutchings, whose former husband, Clarence J. Hutchings, Newton monument maker, succeeded in reducing for the second time in two years the weekly alimony he pays her. He has been paying $13 a week.

Hutchings testified all he has from his business is $35 a week on which he supports his former wife and child and his present wife and child, as well as his mother.

In the divorce action in December, 1935, he charged his wife with unfaithfulness.

SOLONS DEMAND FULL PROBE INTO STATE PAROLE 'RACKET'

Representative Philip G. Bowker of Brookline and Roland D. Sawyer of Ware, appeared with sensational charges today before the Senate Ways and Means Committee in suppore of their proposed inquiry into pardons of state prison convicts.

The house has voted $2000 for the inquiry, and the two legislators sought senate concurrence in its financing.

"I am convinced there is a parole racket in this state," asserted Representative Bowker, "and that we can get to the bottom of it.

"Who is the head of it? From whom are orders taken? It's a dirty picture, but let us dig into it. If the evidence warrants, as I believe it will, let us impeach any official found guilty."

PAID $200 FOR PAROLE

Representative Bowker said his own interest was first aroused in the alleged condition following the pardon under parole conditions of Raymond V. Patriaca, released after serving less than three months of two 3-to-5-year sentences for robberies in Webster and Brookline.

"I have a letter here in which a girl tells of how her mother paid $2000 for her brother's release," he said. "If your committee desires to hold an executive session, I can give you the names of well-known people who should be called on to testify under oath.

"One of the things I think you should investigate is that of the robbery of the Kennedy mansion in Southboro, for which Samuel Linden is now serving time. Find out how much his mother was asked to kick in to release this individual.

"A well-known retired lawyer has volunteered to serve without pay."

CITES TARTAR CASE

Representative Sawyer declared that he "knows of 30 men who ought to be in prison now."

"No greater crime was ever perpetrated in this state," he continued, "than was perpetrated in the executive corner of the State House a few months ago when John S. Tartar was released.

"A murderer, with a record of bad behavior in prison, with every trained prison executive saying he was not fit to be released, he was released quietly, expeditiously and sent forth into society."

Representative Sawyer asserted that a member of the governor's council had stated publicly that "the price for paroles is from $2000 to $5000."

VICTORS—Catherine Forristall, left, and Ruth F. Miga, who won "lost will" battle in Suffolk court to collect shares from $75,000 estate of Mrs. Ida McNamee, their aunt.

Settle Fight Over $75,000 'Lost' Will

Miss Catherine Forristall, 23-year-old Beacon Hill bloade, and her sister, Mrs. Ruth Miga of Greensboro, N. C., were victorious today in probate court in a compromise settlement of the McNamee will fight.

Through the settlement Miss Forristall receives the summer home at Nantasket, which she claimed was left her in the "lost will" of her aunt, Mrs. Ida May McNamee of Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay.

Mrs. Miga and her husband, Andrew, an industrial chemist, receive a total of $2500 from the estate, where they had claimed $7000.

ESTATE WORTH $75,000

The rest and residue of Mrs. McNamee's $75,000 estate, principally real estate, goes to six brothers and two sisters of the deceased.

In the action brought by Miss Forristall, who was joined by her sister and brother-in-law, the court was asked to accept a "substantial copy of the provisions of the will," drawn in 1938 but never found.

The petitioners attempted to offer this copy which they claimed was made by Attorney Robert E. Macdonald from memory and notes after the death of Mrs. McNamee, and at the request of Attorney Edward McPartlin for the petitioners.

NEXT OF KIN

Miss Forristall and her sister were nieces of Mrs. McNamee, and contended they were principal beneficiaries in the original will drawn by Atty. MacDonald. They claimed the summer home at Nantasket was bequeathed to Miss Forristall, while her sister was given $2000 with lots in Calvary Cemetery and her brother-in-law $5000. The rest and residue of the estate was to be divided between six sisters and two brothers of the deceased, according to the petitioners.

Tri-State Truck Strike Is Ended

SPRINGFIELD, April 25 (AP)—The Tri-State truck drivers' strike which tied up transportation in southern New England for several weeks came to a formal end today.

$50,000 HAVERHILL FIRE LOSS

HAVERHILL, April 25—Flames today destroyed the Strand Theater building with loss of $50,000, drawing aid from three communities to save a wide downtown business area.

Eight firemen were treated for minor cuts and bruises while as many others were partly overcome by smoke.

Starting in the basement of Liggett's drug store, the flames raced through partitions in all three floors of the block, giving firemen a five-hour battle to halt its spread.

A second alarm brought aid from Lawrence, Groveland and West Newbury.

Damage in excess of $10,000 in stock alone was estimated by John Moynihan, drug store manager, while the loss in the Quality shoe store was set at $7000.

The flames damaged the auditorium of the Strand Theater and wiped out two floors occupied by the Haverhill Lodge of Eagles. A barber shop and several offices were burned out.

An alley on one side, and a brick firewall on the other, aided firemen in halting the spread of the fire to some of the city's largest business blocks.

U. S. CRUISER AT MALTA

VALETTA, Malta, April 25 (AP)—The United States Cruiser Omaha of the European squadron arrived today for a week's courtesy visit at this British Mediterranean base.

DOBBIN NEEDS PERMIT

LOWELL, April 25—"Uncertified" horses were ruled off the streets here today by Dr. John J. Heath, director of health, following the death from an influenza malady of 20 horses among 200 imported from the midwest to one stable for an anniversary sale.

Dr. Heath announced no horses would be allowed in the streets unless they bore a certificate from a veterinary that they were in good health.

The stable where the horses died was quarantined, all the hay there was destroyed, and the water chlorinated.

Stables in Brockton, Danvers, Wakefield and Lawrence also have been affected, authorities said.

Life Story of Bishop Spellman

Won Fame as Translator Of Pope Pius' Addresses

He was boy like other boys . . . a scrub ball player, shortstop on his high school team, manager of the football team.

Such were the early years of Archbishop Francis J. Spellman, Boston's own champion of church, who has just been made Archbishop of New York, and is in line for the robes of a Cardinal. Born in Whitman, he was educated there and at Fordham University, from where he went to Rome to continue his studies.

The story of his rise from priest to monsignor, to Auxiliary Bishop of Boston was told in the first chapter of Jack Conway's intimate story of the life of a great man. The second installment follows:

By JACK CONWAY

(Copyright, 1939, by Boston Evening American)

On frequent occasions after addressing the world through the marvels of radio, Pope Pius confided to Monsignor Spellman the task of translating into English the Papal utterances and giving to the English speaking world an authentic version. So well was this done that literally thousands of letters and telegrams were received by Monsignor Spellman at the Vatican commending his faithful execution of this high responsibility.

It should be noted also that mechanical perfection was of surpassing importance. Signor Guglielmo Marconi had arranged every last detail in preparation for the historic transmission of these Papal messages. Radio had been used for the first time by His Holiness to communicate with the faithful throughout the world.

What a thrill was felt at hearing the living voice of the Holy Father himself! Not only did every city, village and hamlet hear his august words; the far flung mission fields were brought within the embrace of his expanding charity. Science had become the hand-maid of religion.

VOICE HEARD FROM ROME

Learning of the broadcast that was to electrify the world, Monsignor Spellman's family sat beside the radio and heard from distant Rome the familiar voice that had so often in earlier years rung through the halls and rooms of his home at Whitman.

A mother's dream had come true. Her prayers had followed this young son through his years of training at Whitman, at Fordham University and at the American College in Rome. She was privileged to witness now the trust reposed in her priestly son by the Holy Father himself.

Exemplifying his fondness and affection for Monsignor Spellman who had demonstrated such efficiency and shown such devotion to his scared person and office, the Holy Father summoned him to his presence and presented to him one of the first three medals struck in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of His Holiness' glorious reign.

CATHOLIC CLUBS BANNED

Following this presentation the Holy Father expressed further recognition of the efficient service performed by Monsignor Spellman as official translator of Papal addresses by presenting to him a few days later a rare bronze commemorative medal.

About this time there was considerable discussion between the Papacy and the Italian Government with regard to Catholic Action. Catholic Clubs were being banned throughout the city and throughout Italy. Clashes were recorded in the various provinces. Though differences were very marked, there was strong hope for an amicable settlement because no authoritative official decree for the banning of Catholic Action Clubs had been issued.

It was hoped, therefore, that when the Italian authorities realized world opinion and that of the Italian people, who are thoroughly Catholic, the order of suppression would be rescinded without government entanglement. As Monsignor Spellman stated on that occasion:

"The feeling in Rome here is that the order is only a temporary measure. The opinion here is that the government will rescind the order and be able to call the act a disciplinary measure of temporary nature. The condition is now one of waiting. Nothing can be done right away.

BISHOP SPELLMAN
As a Young Man

Diplomatic relations between the Vatican and the Italian government have not been broken off and representation will be made through the usual diplomatic channels."

It was becoming all too clear that the broadcasting systems of Italy were presenting the government's side to the practical exclusion of the presentation of the authoritative Catholic position.

EPOCHAL ENCYCLICAL

After deep study and painstaking scrutiny of Catholic Action in all its bearings had shown that it had fostered in nowise political but on the contrary strictly spiritual activities, His Holiness penned an epochal encyclical. This finished, the Holy Father summoned Monsignor Spellman to his library and gave him a most exacting commission to go to Paris with the Encyclical and release it by radio and news service to the world.

Immediately that broadcast from Paris became world news. Journals in every nation carried flashing headlines. Despite local repression, His Holiness had most cleverly found a way to address the faithful of all nations and present the Church's true position on Catholic Action.

This flight so secretly and diplomatically carried out takes a high place amid the brilliant accomplishments of this scholarly and pious priest, trusted messenger of His Holiness.

Soon a better understanding came about. Government officials were convinced that truly religious motives inspired the Holy Father's movement for Catholic Action. Decrees were relaxed. Bishops throughout the United States, indeed throughout the world, congratulated His Holiness on his firmness and the tenacity with which he defended the Catholic Youth Movement.

As the months wore on and former misunderstandings gave way to a better comprehension of the case, mutual confidence was restored. The Holy Father received the Italian Premier in private audience. New and happier relations were cemented between the Holy See and the Italian government.

UNFAILING MEMORY

One might ask what outstanding traits over and beyond his broad scholarship, masterly mind, delicate diplomacy and priestly zeal this young priest possessed. His friends will tell you of his unfailing memory, his uncanny ability to recall faces and names and his remarkable versatility. They will tell you of the severity of his personal life, his sparse diet and abstention from even light wines.

Early in the summer of 1932 the International Eucharistic Congress was held in Dublin.

By favor of His Holiness Pope Pius XI, Monsignor Spellman was appointed secretary to the Papal Legate. It was necessary that his inspiring message be translated to the faithful myriads of devout pilgrims. Turning to Monsignor Spellman the Papal Legate handed him a document to be translated on the spot. Without preparation, His Eminence's secretary gave an excellent translation, and won the admiration of the Cardinal Legate who had through the years witnessed, and now personally tested, his dependability.

After seven years of devoted service the Holy Father was pleased to give a very particular sign of his affection for Monsignor Spellman. His Holiness had noted his conspicuous administrative ability, his delicate diplomacy and his profound piety.

MADE AUXILIARY BISHOP

And so on August 1, 1932, the news was flashed from Vatican City that His Holiness had created Monsignor Spellman Auxiliary bishop of Boston and Titular Bishop of Sila.

This vacancy had been made by the recent elevation of Most Rev. John B. Peterson, D.D. to the Bishopric of Manchester, New Hampshire.

Read the story of the young priest's consecration as a bishop at St. Peter's in Rome, and of how the highest dignitaries of the church united to do him honor, in tomorrow's third installment of Archbishop Spellman's life story.

GUARD DOCKS IN STRIKE

Extra details of police moved into the vicinity of the Mystic Docke in Everett today as tension increased in the oil tanker seamen's strike.

In defiance of strong picket lines, crews of newly recruited workers were prepared to board the tankers and start unloading oil, police said.

Many of the recruits were professional strike breakers imported from New York, officials of the National Maritime Union charged.

Thomas McGowan, business agent of the Boston local of the union, today repeated his protests to Police Chief George O. Penney of Everett and U. S. Attorney Edmund J. Brandon that striking crews were being replaced by strikebreakers.

Simultaneously, State Commissioner of Correction Arthur T. Lyman confirmed that more than a score of convicts in Concord Reformatory and other institutions who had been offered jobs as strikebreakers were denied their paroles, for which they have been eligible three or four months.

Union officials charged that 25 prospective parolees were signed for strike-breaking jobs at $50 a week.

A Dorchester man arrested as one of six striking truck drivers who allegedly halted a coal truck on Meridian st. bridge, East Boston, and dumped three tons of coal to the pavement, was released today before his scheduled arraignment in East Boston district court.

Police said the driver of the halted truck, George Lavalle, 35, of Torrington place, Cambridge, failed to identify the suspect when they prepared to lodge a compaint against him in court.

New Flag Rebel Action Hinted

SOUTH DEERFIELD, April 25—While school committee members were considering a move to have them adjudged delinquents, William, Dorothea and Gloria Johnson, who despite a U. S. Supreme Court ruling persist in refusing to salute the flag, again took their customary seats in this town's grammar school today.

The children, School Committee Chairman Timothy C. Kelleher said, would be permitted to attend school until the board meets to act. Parents of the children, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Johnson, were noncommittal.

The Johnson children were ordered out of school several months ago when they refused to obey the Massachusetts flag salute law.

Mystery Girl Held in Malden

A girl dressed in a blue coat, a red skirt and a sweater today gave Malden police an identification mystery to solve.

The girl was picked up in Malden's shopping district.

At the station house she refused to divulge her identity. Police described her as five feet tall, a brunette, apparently about 18 years old.

The girl had on brown shoes and stockings and a two-toned brown sweater, police said. Weighing about 115 pounds, she has small scars on her right upper lip, over her left eye, and on the bridge of her nose.

Opposition Delays Saltonstall Tax Plan

Unexpected opposition to "emergency retrenchment" recommendations already made has forced Gov. Saltonstall to postpone delivery of a special message on new taxation to the Legislature, administration spokesmen disclosed today.

CATHOLIC CONFERENCE — Charlotte O'Donnell of West Medford, member of ushers committee, and Carol Murnane of Brighton, registration chairman, attend opening session of Catholic Women's Conference at the Hotel Somerset. Addressing gathering, Monsignor Michael J. Splaine declared: "This congress is the composite thinking of the Catholic women of the diocese . . . this is Catholic action."

Leiserson Named As NLRB Member

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt today nominated William M. Leiserson of Ohio to be a member of the National Labor Relations Board to succeed Donald Wakefield Smith of Pennsylvania.

The latter's term expired several months ago. He was given a recess appointment last fall, but the President never submitted his nomination to the Senate when Congress convened.

The American Federation of Labor had opposed Smith, contending he was prejudiced in favor of the CIO.

CATHOLIC WOMEN IN CONCLAVE

More than 2000 women today attended a mass at St. Clement's Church, Boylston street, Back Bay, the opening event of the Third Diocesan Conference of Catholic Women.

The mass was celebrated by the Rev. Mgr. Michael J. Splaine. Conference sessions will be held for two days at the Hotel Somerset, with Cardinal O'Connell delivering an address tomorrow afternoon.

Prof. Louis J. Mercier of Harvard University was to speak before the afternoon session today, after a morning given over to registration and business conferences.

Mgr. Splaine, in his invocation, told the assemblage that the gathering represented a "composite thought."

"This congress is the composite thinking of the Catholic women of the diocese," he said. "This is Catholic action—what the Holy Father desires."

Assembling at the Somerset after mass, the women were greeted by Mrs. Vincent L. Greene, president of the Diocesan League of Catholic Women. In addition to Prof. Mercier, the Rev. Charles D. McInnis, D. D., Professor of Dogmatic Theology at St. John's Seminary, was to speak.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses every-day affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

KNOX DEATH CASE GIVEN TO JURY

The fate of ex-State Trooper George T. Knox, accused of the murder of Mrs. Helen Darragh Dale, pretty divorcee found shot in his Commonwealth avenue apartment May 22, 1937, was placed in the hands of a jury at 11:45 this morning.

Judge Lewis H. Goldberg read a charge which took him an hour and 20 minutes before the members of the jury retired for their deliberations.

Moved into the juryroom with them were some 700-odd exhibits in the case, including the chair in which Mrs. Dale was found wounded.

The prosecution, presented by Assistant District Attorney Edward M. Sullivan, charged that Knox, during a quarrel, shot Mrs. Dale, wounding her so seriously that she subsequently died.

It was brought out by the prosecution that they had been friendly for years, and that prior to the shooting Knox had taken money from her pocketbook without her knowledge.

The defense contended that she must have wounded herself with one of the ex-trooper's three guns in an attempt to end her life.

It was brought out by the defense that at least once before she had attempted to end her life by jumping out of the apartment window. It was also shown that she drank heavily, and had been drinking before the shooting.

Hearings in the case ended in a dramatic plea from Knox as to his innocence.

The case was notable in that two years elapsed between the indictment and the trial.

Gloucester Ship Towed Into Halifax

HALIFAX, N. S., April 25 (Canadian Press)—The Canadian government steamship Aranmore steamed into Halifax early today towing the crippled Gloucesterman Raymonde, picked up near Beaver Light after drifting helplessly for nearly two weeks. The United States fishing schooner was disabled by engine trouble.

Capt. Carl Olsen and his crew of 21 all were in good condition, port authorities said.

Three Women Burned by 'Gas' Fire

WORCESTER, April 25—Three women were burned today, one critically, when gasoline used to operate a wallpaper-removing machine exploded, blowing out windows and setting fire to the house in Richmond avenue.

The name of Mrs. Sadie Norris, 60, of Richmond avenue, was placed on the danger list at City Hospital, where she is suffering from burns about the face, hands, arms and back.

Seriously burned, but not critically, were her daughter, Mrs. Frances M. Berman, 34, of the same address, and Emily Derry, 16, of Pleasant street, maid for Mrs. Berman. They, too, are at the hospital.

All three were watching Louis Levy and his son Herman, paper hangers, fill the machine, fire officials said, and some of the gasoline spilled over and became ignited.

Flaming gasoline was sprayed about.

Despite burns, the three women attempted to fight the fire with water, which served only to spread the flames.

Finally they fled through a pantry window, with Mrs. Norris' clothing partly burned from her body.

Neighbors rushed them to the hospital.

The two Levys were uninjured.

Brother Says He's Other Man

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., April 25 (AP)—Louis Wanamaker, brother of Susan Wanamaker Guihan who is suing Philip V. Guihan, Ossining, N. Y., chain store manager for divorce, testified under cross examination today that he was "the other man" with whom his brother-in-law accused his sister of going out.

Mrs. Guihan, former Norwalk artist's model, told Judge Arthur F. Ells in superior court last week that her husband berated her for being with "another man." She alleged cruelty in her divorce action.

SOVIETS JAIL SPIES

MOSCOW, April 25 (AP)—Twenty-seven men charged with sabotage and espionage for a foreign power were reported today to have been convicted at Yeravna and sentenced to six years' imprisonment.

HITLER SNUBS BRITON

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, April 25—Adolf Hitler launched an intensive diplomatic drive to solidify his position in Central Europe today in anticipation of his eagerly awaited speech before the Reichstag on Friday.

All other matters went by the board, and included in that category was the so-called "mission" of Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador, who returned to Berlin last night. Hitler and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop were reported "too busy" to see the British envoy.

Reports from London insisted that Sir Neville had brought with him a personal appeal to Hitler from Prime Minister Chamberlain, but responsible Berlin quarters declared Hitler had "more important things than visitors" on his mind.

HITLER IRRITATED

Well-informed Nazi circles made clear that Hitler was not receptive to "irritating suggestions" from abroad.

(Background Note: Reports in London yesterday stated Finland was growing restive over the current Anglo-Russian "anti-aggression" negotiations. It was felt that the Anglo-Soviet alliance, if it materializes, would be utilized by Germany to draw Finland, Latvia and Estonia into the anti-comintern line-up, isolating Poland. In this connection, considerable importance was attached to the Berlin visit of the Finnish army commander-in-chief, who visited Germany as an official guest on Hitler's birthday.)

DOUBT BRITISH WARNING

The German attitude served to cast doubt on seemingly authoritative information from London that Chamberlain had deputized Henderson to serve notice on Hitler that his speech had better be conciliatory.

Official Nazi circles rested solely on Chamberlain's assurance to Commons his ambassador had returned "in the normal course of things" and it was thought unlikely he would see Hitler or even Foreign Minister Ribbentrop until after the Reichstag meeting.

U. S. Puts Friendship Issue Up to Hitler

WASHINGTON, April 25 (INS)—Friday, the day Adolf Hitler replies to President Roosevelt's request for a German-Italian guarantee of a ten-year peace in Europe, will be the deciding factor in America's relations with the Reich, official quarters said today.

If Hitler's reply is "satisfactory," and there is a sincere recognition by Germany of the territorial sanctity of the 31 neighbors of the Reich cited in the Roosevelt message, the American government probably will return Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson to Berlin.

If, on the other hand, Hitler's reply is belligerent and derisive, and he fails to give guarantee against further aggression, Wilson may never return to Berlin.

Hitler's Talk Starts Friday at 6 Hub Time

Hearing the long-awaited reply of Adolf Hitler to President Roosevelt, to be broadcast to all the world on Friday morning, will mean early rising for listeners in the United States, since it is to be carried by American network chains at 6 a. m. that day.

The speech will be carried in its entirety with English interpolations and summaries, the broadcast to last an hour and a half.

Stations of the NBC and CBS, as well as the Mutual Systems, are making ready to transmit the talk from coast to coast on these shores. Boston and New England outlets are expected to be WEEI, WNAC, WBZ and WAAB, the latter being the Mutual System outlet.

U. S. Girl Weds Lord Auckland

PARIS, April 25 (AP)—Mrs. Constance Hart Faure, daughter of Mrs. Benno Hart of Paris and San Francisco, and Baron Auckland of England were married in Paris today in a civil ceremony.

Lady Auckland

The new Lady Auckland has lived in Paris for several years. Lord Auckland's marriage to Susan Hartridge of Jacksonville, Fla., was dissolved in 1925. One of Lord Auckland's ancestors was viceroy of India and another was governor-general of New Zealand. He is the sixth Baron Auckland.

FRANCE BANS ATTACKS ON JEWS

PARIS, April 25 (AP) — The French government today clamped down a rigid press law forbidding publication of foreign propaganda and attacks on race or religion under the penalty of heavy fines and imprisonment.

The government's sweeping control, established under its parliament-conferred dictatorial powers, was believed directed principally at curbing a growing number of pamphlets bitterly attacking Jews and an increasing number of political journals accused of being subsidized from abroad.

Involved in the government's concern was a fear that colored news dispatches might divide French public opinion in times of crisis.

Leftist newspapers have accused Rightest sheets of being financed by German and Italian sources. The Rightists have been quick to retort that the Leftist press is being subsidized by Soviet Russia.

The official explanation of the new press law referred to the government's declaration before Parliament October 4, 1938, that "all that excites hatred, all that pits Frenchman against Frenchman cannot but be considered as treason."

A supplementary decree imposed heavy penalties for publication of foreign propaganda.

The decree was published one day after orders to three organizations in the former German provinces, Alsace-Lorraine, to cease their activities and disband.

They were the "Young Men's Group" led by Hermann Biekler, a former Prussian, the Erwin Von Steinbach Club, and the Alsatian Peoples' Intellectual and Cultural Union.

While vigilant at home, France warily followed Britain's lead in sending her ambassador back to Berlin prior to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's answer next Friday to President Roosevelt's appeal for non-aggression guarantees.

Duce Cautions Hitler 'No War'

LONDON, April 25 (INS)—Premier Mussolini again has counselled Reichsfuehrer Hitler against staging any new military coup likely to plunge Europe into war, the diplomatic correspondent of the London Evening Standard stated today.

Yugoslavia Bans Treaties With Nazis

BELGRADE, April 25 (AP)—Yugoslavia will make no new commitments to Germany, Alexander Cinca-Markovich, the foreign minister, said today before departing for Berlin.

The foreign office explained the foreign minister "seeks information, not treaties."

3 Billion Defense Budget for Britain

known before Chancellor Hitler answers the Roosevelt peace appeal on Friday.

Sir Neville Henderson, who returned to his post as ambassador to Berlin yesterday after a five-week absence, was described in reliable quarters as having been directed to tell Hitler the British government was taking a far-reaching decision in favor of conscription.

Hitler was to be advised, it was said, that the step was being taken as a matter of self-defense in the present world situation and as a reflection of popular sentiment in the nation.

MUST BE MORE TAXES

Sir John, in discussing the budget, emphasized the "cruel necessities of defense.'

The total amount needed cannot be met by a loan, the chancellor said

"Therefore," he declared, "there must be additional taxation."

The original figure of £580,000,000 ($290,000,000) for defense has been enlarged, he said, by the government's decision to double the territorial army and by other military measures.

Because of the armament race, the chancellor disclosed, the British taxpayers must find £942,000,000 ($4,710,000,000), while £380,000,000 ($1,900,000,000) will be borrowed.

The basic estimate of $4,61,200,000 expenditures, he said, will be vastly increased during the course of the year by supplementary estimates for defense.

On the basis of present taxation and trade outlook, Sir John said most revenue-producing taxes will be lower this year than last.

AUTO, TOBACCO TAXES

The chancellor announced an increase in the horse-power tax on private cars from 15 shillings ($3.75) to 25 shillings ($6.25) per horsepower.

The basic duty on tobacco was raised from 9 shillings, 8 pence a pound to 11 shillings, 8 pence a pound. He also announced an increase in the tax on sugar of one farthing a pound.

On the existing basis, Sir John estimated the total revenue at $4,591,655,000, leaving a minimum deficit of $20,545,000.

Defense expenditures may even exceed $3,150,000,000, Sir John warned.

"But I am confident," he said, "that the country is thoroughly aroused to further sacrifice."

Numerous suggestions have been made as to what form the initial steps in conscription would take.

Britain has been under pressure from France and more recently from Soviet Russia to put sharp teeth such as conscription into the British-French alliance of nations.

It was not regarded as likely the cabinet was ready to enforce full conscription but rather was inclined to start with some such measure as compulsory and partial military training for a limited age group.

FRANCE PROBES 2D SHIP BURNING

TOULON, France, April 25 (AP)—The French government today opened an investigation of what authorities thought might be the second case of sabotage against French merchant vessels within a week—the burning of the steamship Angers.

The 9847-ton Angers was destroyed at La Seyne shipyard, near a powder and gasoline depot which serves the main French naval base at Toulon. The loss was estimated at 200,000 francs ($5200).

The Angers, formerly the Capearna, built in 1917 at Hamburg, was being broken up. The ship was owned by a subsidiary of Messageries Maritimes, a French company.

The fire followed by two days the expulsion from Toulon of six Italian employes of a factory working on national defense orders. They were accused of spreading anti-French propaganda.

Six days earlier the liner Paris was swept by fire at Le Havre, and on Sunday a 19-year-old Austrian watchman of the vessel was charged with incendiarism. Authorities still were investigating the Le Havre fire on the theory that it was a "criminal act," possibly committed by foreign agents.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Bolivia Calm Over Dictator

LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 25 (AP)—Bolivia received with apparent calm today 35-year-old President German Busch's assumption of dictatorial powers as "the only road toward re-invigorating the republic internally and internationally."

Interest in some circles centered on congressional elections. Those scheduled for May 4 will not be conducted but others may be held later. The three parties before the 1932-1935 Gran Chaco war with Paraguay, in which Busch fought, had organized a united front for the May 4 elections. They were the Liberal, Republican and Socialist Republican parties.

Busch said that his new regime would have a program based on "economic and social needs, not intellectual or sentimental adhesion to political theories in vogue."

A WORD ON HAPPY BIRTHDAYS

BIRTHDAYS should always be an occasion for celebration. Particularly is this true of the first Birthday. Unlike an Individual, an Organization can celebrate such an event in the full realization of all that the first year has meant. But even more pertinent is the knowledge which an Organization does hold regarding first year accomplishments.

While this is the first Birthday of the combined Record-American, it recalls many Happy Birthdays to many of the more than twelve hundred employees of the Hearst Newspapers in Boston. Numbers of these loyal workers have spent the major portion of their lives in service to these Newspapers. 45 have worked here thirty-five years or more. 45 have worked between thirty and thirty-five years. 68 have worked between twenty-five and thirty years. 85 have worked between twenty and twenty-five years. 185 have worked between fifteen and twenty years. 200 have worked between ten and fifteen years. 234 have worked between five and ten years. 245 have worked between one and five years.

The 1200 Men and Women who produce the Newspapers you 485,000 people buy every day are paid salaries of more than $3,000,000.00 a year. They and their families are representative of this Commonwealth. They contribute in large measure to the Business and Economic life of Boston. In fact they are an important part of Boston, many have been for more than thirty-five years, and will be for years to come.

Those Men, Women and Children from all walks of life, that make up the greatest reader-audience of this great market, have contributed immeasurably to the Record-American's first year successes.

And, each and every Advertiser that has employed these Newspapers to spread the story of his wares, has had an important part in this first year of unprecedented progress.

TO YOU ALL—to each Employee, to the Readers and to the Advertisers, we say, Thanks for our Happy Birthday and may you remain our friends throughout the years to come.

Yours C. Ham

STERLING PORTRAYALS MARK 'OUR TOWN' AT PLYMOUTH

Eddie Dowling Wins Praise In Lead of Wilder's Hit

By PEGGY DOYLE

Thornton Wilder's hauntingly beautiful first drama, "Our Town" which had its world premiere here 18 months ago, is back again following a most successful New York run.

It made its second appearance last night at the Plymouth under the auspices of C. E. Wee and Frank McCoy, second in a series of popular priced productions backed by this successful producing team for Boston playgoers.

Eddie Dowling whose starring productions and performances have long been the talk of Broadway is now playing the spoken-of preacher-dreamer proprietor-shepherd role created by Frank Craven in the original production.

Everyone Boston which doesn't like to be rushed into anything new in the way of theatrical entertainment was unusually chilly in its reception of "Our Town" on the night of January 25, 1938, to the utter bewilderment of the reviewers, a number of whom left the theatre in the middle of the second act to spread the glad tidings on the streets with every appearance of approval.

That was a year and a half ago. Last night Mr. Dowling's stage production and the performances of everyone in the cast were greeted with such tumultuous applause as to leave no doubt in the minds of the audience that they had seen a truly great play.

Thornton Wilder's play is a unique piece of writing. It is a simple story of the life and death of a typical New England village, Grover Corners, New Hampshire, told in the terms of the people who live there. It is a story of birth, marriage and death, of the daily round of work and play, of the eternal verities that are this unusual production's only props.

He neither apes the Craven performance nor recalls by word or action his past performances as a Broadway song-and-dance man. Rather, he completely sublimates his personality in the Stage Manager role and emerges so completely Grover Corners that he does not even require the services of a fake New Hampshire accent to authenticate the characterization. This is particularly apparent in the final scene when the quick and the dead meet in the cemetery.

For the unfortunately large group of local playgoers who failed to see Jed Harris' "Our Town" the present production is excellently done and rates generous patronage. It is a beautiful play and if the current production does not reach the sublime heights of the original it is apparent that its accenting of the comedy angles make for far greater popular appeal.

The audience loved it last night and they loved too the young sweethearts, Teresa Wright and William Redfield, acting shy in love and yet so utterly naked at the prospect of married life.

The entire cast is exceptional, Wesley Addy and Mr. McCoy as the stage managers, Evelyn Varden and Mr. Dowling as Mrs. and Mr. Gibbs, Teresa Wright as Emily Webb, William Redfield as George Gibbs, Helen Carew as Mrs. Webb, Frank Tweddell as Dr. Gibbs, Raymond Bramley as Simon Stimson, Ruth Gilbert as Mrs. Soames, Ralph Dunn as Constable Warren, Jack Manning as Howie Newsome, Ruth Hammond as Mrs. Gibbs, Jack Arnold as Wally Webb

Hollywood Notes

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Victor Saville has arrived in Hollywood with Mrs. Saville and knocked into a cocked hat all previous plans for Robert Donat. Closely associated with the temperamental Donat, Saville seems to know what's best for him.

After a conference with Hen[illegible] Louis B. Mayer, Eddie Mannix and the rest of the M-G-M bosses, it was decided to discard all previous plans and star Donat in Kindling. Neville Shute's book, which is timely right now.

But when you hear more about the coming movie you can forget Kindling. For the new title is Goodbye, Mr. Chips. Why I wonder when the book is so well known?

Joan Crawford is the greatest star in Hollywood or vice versa. I am inclined to believe she does deserve a medal for being wise enough to realize a star can not go on all [illegible] keeping glamour girls and keeping her public interested. Joan's [illegible] to prove her sincerity in [illegible] is that when [illegible] were shot good, was in the Women.

Twelve Happy Months

THE TWINS—The Boston Evening American and the Daily Record—celebrate their first birthday today as New England's dominant newspaper combination.

We are thankful for something fine to remember every month of our first year. For instance:

1—Every day 100,000 more people buy and read the Record-American than any other newspaper combination in New England.

2—Our papers provide year round jobs for 1200 home folk.

3—Our papers pay salaries to New Englanders amounting to three million dollars a year.

4—Our papers spend four million dollars a year in New England.

5—Our papers spend $34,000 a week for news print alone.

6—The Record GAINED 393,829 lines of retail display linage in the past 12 months.

7—The American GAINED 566,730 lines of retail display linage at the same time.

8—Merchants consider the Record-American first in the homes. They used more space for furniture and household advertising than any other Boston newspapers.

9—The Record-American led all Boston papers in radio advertising.

10—Our readers can afford jewelry. The Record-American led all Boston papers in jewelry advertising.

11—Our readers like good clothing and have a reputation for credit. The Record-American led all Boston papers in credit clothing advertising.

12—Our convenient, easy-to-read news and picture papers in the format of daily magazines have revolutionized public buying and reading habits in New England.

Thanks, dear readers. Happy birthday to YOU, too.

ARTHUR BRISBANE, great writer and editor, often and wisely said: "Ambition, plus thought, plus action—that does it."

The achievement of A. Randall MacInnes, son of a New England shipbuilder, would have interested Arthur Brisbane.

This young man, striving for promotion to a captaincy in the Merchant Marine made the disappointing discovery that his failure to have obtained a college education blocked his road.

He had the ambition. He backed himself with thought. Then he added the action.

Accordingly, he enrolled not in one institution of higher learning, but in TWO. His reward comes next June when he will receive the degree of Bachelor of Liberal Arts from Southwestern College and that of Bachelor of Science in Educational [illegible] from West Tennessee State Teachers' College.

Money needed to finance the study came "the hard way." Young MacInnes' own efforts as waiter, part-time radio announcer, bakery laborer, choir director and newspaper correspondent provided it.

Human Side of News 1-1

by EDWIN C. HILL

WITH ALL this talk of neutrality and how to keep out of war and whether we can or not, Senator Vandenberg of Michigan comes forward with a simple idea which he believes would be effective.

He would just lock up all the brass bands or deprive them of their horns and drums. Thus he [illegible] "[illegible] would lang[illegible]. A horse can't kick if you tie his ears forward and without hind must we just couldn't and wouldn't fight and so we would live in peace to a happy old age.

THE suggestion is by no means new or novel, but it is interesting just now in view of the hoof-and-horse mood of the country. When the Japanese were starting to march us into the World War such a remark by a prominent member of the 1940 club of the 1921 Hall of Fame would have been thought a fairly bad joke.

Times have changed. We've still got neutrality but there are signs here and there that the first timid notes of a strong sentiment that we are beginning to think with our heads instead of our feet.

SENATOR VANDENBERG
Would Silence War Drums

Typical of such detached and thoughtful inquiry is the study made by the Willard Straight Post, American Legion, of New York.

The Post knows a lot about war. Its report wants to know if this war in the offing is necessarily OUR war, if not, when and why and how will it become so? What would our stake be in this war?

Would it be the defense of our democratic institutions, or would it be the defense of our material possessions or our quest of more of the same?

If we stayed out to the bitter end would we have to take on one or both of the main contenders later on? How can we certify supposed facts and inducements offered by those who would flag us in or out?

Are we free to make our decision solely on the basis of our own obvious safety and well-being or are we caught in a world upheaval from which we must somehow fight our way out?

Can we clarify our thinking and discipline our emotions sufficiently to give us a clear understanding of our national interest, duty and responsibility?

THIS REPORT is conclusive only in its precise statement of the problem. It is as unemotional as a piece of laboratory [illegible].

It is valuable in the lack of [illegible] upon which to base recommendations and presents to the gathering of more [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible].

I cannot but note as emphasized heretofore labour on all twelve counts.

Political Parade 1-1

by GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, April 25—Conservative Democratic leaders in Washington are going quietly ahead with their plans to save their party from going over to New Deal Socialism in 1940.

There is not a single personal Presidential ambition involved in this well-organized move.

That is what makes it so dangerous to the New Deal. If it were founded on the ambition of some man to be President it could be smashed by a counter-offensive. It happens to be founded firmly on principle.

Mr. Roosevelt's renewed invitation for conservative Democrats to GET OUT OF THEIR OWN PARTY or swallow their principles against state Socialism and go along with the New Deal next year—that is to say, to become intellectually crooked and like it—has not and will not alter the plan to save the Democratic Party, as the Democratic Party, and not the New Deal Socialist Party.

BY a paradox the DEFEAT OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY in 1940, as a means to SAVE THE PARTY, is a possible contingency that is borne in mind.

As these conservative Democrats, to whom the Democratic belief is virtually a religion, inherited, and handed down from father to son, view Mr. Roosevelt's invitation, it boils down to this:

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT
Can He Control Convention?

Notwithstanding the fact that the national debt will be above $45,000,000,000 by 1940 the Democratic Party must embrace the Roosevelt-Eccles theory of continued spending of borrowed money to insure the return of a na[illegible] income of 80 billions.

The Democratic Party must continue to support such reforms as the National Labor Relations Law, notwithstanding it is basically un-American in principle, and is contributing largely to continuation of the Roosevelt panic.

The Conservative South, in order to assist in the perpetuation of the New Deal, must acquiesce in the repeal of all poll tax laws where they now exist, principally in the South, as a first step towards the complete enfranchisement of millions of poor whites and Negroes through whose votes a new order can be established in the South.

THE UNDERSTANDINGS which are being reached in Washington among old-fashioned Democrats are gradually taking form, although as yet there is no formula.

Events will shape the program to be followed. Groups of delegates are already being quietly organized in a number of States. It is possible, some believe it to be probable, that Mr. Roosevelt cannot muster enough strength in the next convention to nominate himself, or to dictate the nomination of a radical candidate.

TONE WILL PORTRAY DEWEY ON RADIO

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, April 25.—Last summer Burgess Meredith introduced Elaine Stern Carrington the writer, to Franchot Tone . . . Miss Carrington then wrote a script for Tone, a script which would have been ideally suited for Meredith. Burgess indulged in some amicable name-calling. . . . A few weeks ago Meredith auditioned for a radio program in which he was to portray the role of District Attorney Dewey. The script was written by Ed Byron . . . Tone auditioned for the same program. His script was written by Elaine Stern Carrington . . . Meredith's program was accepted as the better one. . . . "But," the sponsors told Meredith, "while we'll use the script, we've offered the role to Franchot Tone."

Camilla

by Anne Stretton, who wrote 'PROPOSAL'

GLADYS TELLS Simon about Camilla's behavior. "My daughter spent the night at the George with a man and didn't come home until ten in the morning," she says.

Who's Who and What's Happened:

CAMILLA and MARK might have come into a fine inheritance when their father, a famous but eccentric writer, had not neglected to make a will. When he died he left no provision for his children's interests in the house of

GLADYS, who had no maternal affection at all for Camilla and Mark. And he was the lands of Dore to

SIMON, a friend of Simon's managed the estate efficiently and was like a father to Camilla and Mark. They had no idea he was in love with Gladys, who had brought his fiancée

EVELYN, whose name rarely they disliked her and knew that the feeling was mutual. Although Evelyn disapproved of Marks, to whom Simon gave Dore to him. After they were married, Mark went away to school and Camilla met

STEPHEN FULLER, who was staying with friends near Dore. They became lovers. Gladys, hearing her mother was dead, came home to Dore. Stephen came to see her. Gladys, hearing her mother was dead, came home to Dore. Stephen came to see her. Coming home unexpectedly, Simon scolded Camilla for riding his new horse. He also warned her that she thought she was engaged. He told her she would be sent away to school.

Fishing, Hunting News Important ⁞ Often Neglected By Newspapers

IT MAY BE because I only recently returned from Florida, but I do not believe our New England newspapers devote enough space to fishing and hunting news. In Florida the newspapers use headlines on the fact that John Jones, the big lumber and sawdust man from Portland, Maine, caught 76 trout, 41 mackerel and five or six sail fish during a trip out in the Gulf.

The Florida newspapers also carry "Outdoor Columns" which give the news [illegible] of the fishing and hunting. I found [illegible] were also [illegible] and [illegible] were [illegible] and [illegible] in these stories.

LOU SMITH

Governor Francis Murphy of New Hampshire believes that newspapers should be more outdoor minded as far as fishing is concerned. The governor has sent me a gold fishing license, and suggests that I try New Hampshire lakes, ponds and streams for fish.

Jack Sharkey is one of the chief boosters for fishing in New Hampshire. As heavyweight boxing champion of the world, Sharkey used to spend much time at Bow Lake, N. H. Jack also has gone fishing in Massachusetts and in Maine. Dr. Martin H. Spellman and Jack Donahue, the former Holy Cross football player, and Cy Young of Brookline once induced me to go fishing at Silver Lake, Conway, N. H. They were convinced I would become a fishing addict after I scored with two five pound lake trout.

Later I went hunting in New Hampshire with the same party and when I couldn't get the sight of my gun on anything I commenced by playing golf. I used my guide as a caddy, and he soon learned how to kick the little white agate out of the rough.

Florida Sells Climate, Ocean and Golf

FLORIDA HAS succeeded in selling the world on its life in the open. Outside the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico come under [illegible] Florida sells talk.

New England has much more to offer than Florida in the matter of Outdoor Life, but cannot compare with New England in scenic beauties. I have always felt that what sold Florida more than anything else was the fact it had warm weather when it was cold in the North. People come here in the Winter and Spring to escape the cold, and overlook the fact Florida is a flat, uninteresting looking country. The warm sunshine and surf bathing at a time when people are shivering in the North are sufficient compensation.

I would be interested in finding out what fishermen and hunters think of my claim that New England newspapers do not devote enough space to outdoor life. There must be people who do not go to ball games, race tracks, boxing or wrestling shows, and who do not care about hockey, basketball or the other highly publicized sports.

I'll be waiting to hear from you. Address Mr. Boston, Boston American, Boston, Mass.

Random Shots at Target

THE SEVENTH annual New England Bowling Association Candlepin Tournament sponsored by the New England Bowling Association will be held at the Nautical Garden Ballroom, Revere on May 1 to May 14 inclusive . . . Joe Hines is credited among those who have been active in making the plans for this big tournament . . . Twenty-four new streamline alleys are being installed for the contest . . . There will be events for men and women in all classes, with there will be $1000 in prizes.

Boston will soon be the scene of a record bowling derby which will be held at the Arena . . . Similar events have gone over in a large way in Chicago, Pittsburgh and in other major cities.

Local ball park work has started on the alterations on Rockingham Park, grandstand . . . The wood over the [illegible] being removed, and a new [illegible] will be built . . . There will be added box seats, and more [illegible] for the bettors to get to the mutuel windows . . . Smith will remain in New England to supervise the changes at Rockingham.

Dartmouth Wins In Ski Recount

PINKHAM NOTCH, N. H., April 25 (INS)—The temporary glow of victory today faded for the Harvard ski team—erased by the relentless evidence of an adding machine.

Initial calculation of the elapsed time in the Sunday slalom race between Harvard and Dartmouth showed the Crimson a thin winner. Today, computation of the corrected times of the first 50 finishers reversed the decision and gave Dartmouth the victory by a margin of 1 minute 43.3 seconds.

Shoddy Hurling Slows Sox Flag Progress

By WALTER KILEY

The spectre of weird pitching once again raises its troublesome head to haunt the peace of Joe Cronin.

The Red Sox had reason to lapse into a sense of false security when Grove, Bagby and Rich went, in turn, the full nine-inning route, each turning in highly creditable performances.

[illegible] the good things don't last long.

Five pitchers, Archer, Galehouse, Ostermueller, Heving and Dickman showed to advantage on Sunday's 12 to 5 defeat by the Athletics.

Another quartet, Wilson, Wade, Archer, Weaver and Bagby, made the Athletics appearance as the Sox dropped the Monday opener to the Washington Senators 10 to 1.

Ambers Favored To Whip Mellody In Garden Fray

By JACK CONWAY

Lou Ambers, colorful New York lightweight, is a favorite to win over Honey Mellody of Charlestown in their ten-round bout at the Garden tonight. This tussle will mark the return of Boston to big time boxing.

Ambers is virtually matched to clash with Henry Armstrong, a tussle for the world [illegible] championship in New York early the coming summer. In their last bout Armstrong was a [illegible] decision over Ambers.

"I've learned more about fighting from McAllister in the last few months than I could have learned in a dozen fights," he declared.

"McAllister was one of the cleverest of them all. He's taught me the finer points both of defense and offense.

"I've learned a lot about Baer from him, too. He was one of Max's first teachers, you know. I know I've improved a lot, especially in my footwork. I've filled out a few pounds and reached my full growth.

"All my measurements are a little larger. So I'm ready, and I want a shot at Louis this September—not next summer like you might have heard."

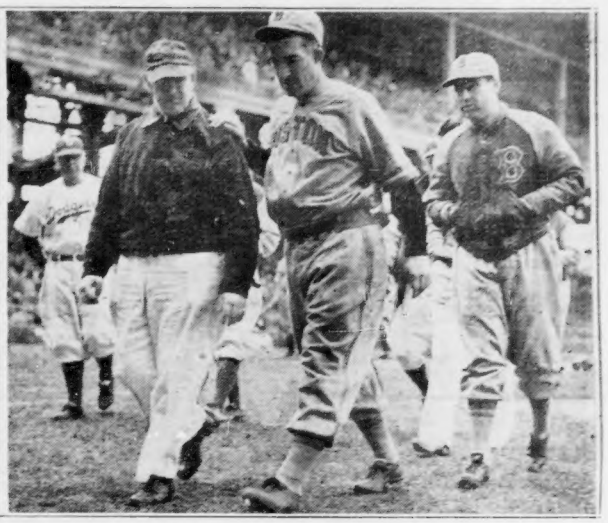
MIKE KELLY AL SIMMONS TONY CUCCINELLO

BEANED! Al Simmons lies huddled on ground after being hit on head by Van Mungo pitch. Coach Mike Kelly (33) and Tony Cuccinello rush to Al's aid. "I'M O. K.." Simmons walks off field under own power after being felled by Van Mungo fast ball. Al says he'll be back in game tomorrow, but one never can tell.



AL SIMMONS

SIMMONS' LOSS BLOW TO BEES

BROOKLYN, April 25—Al Simmons, who has provided plenty of punch in the startling get-away of the Boston Bees in this infant baseball race, will not be in the lineup today when the Stengelmen try to make it two straight over the local Dodgers.

Simmons is likely to be in the stands watching the game, following his release from St. Mary's Hospital where he was held overnight for observation.

"Beaned" yesterday by one of Van Mungo's curves, Simmons was rushed to St. Mary's where an examination showed little more than a slight concussion.

"Why," said Secretary Duffy Lewis, "there can't be anything very much wrong with Al. He wanted a steak and that's the tip-off that he's feeling healthy."

Dr. Francis Curran examined Simmons and ordered him held over-night.

AL ANXIOUS TO GO

The doctor advised a few days rest, although Al is likely to ask boss Stengel to put him in the game tomorrow and probably will have his request granted.

It was the long bat of Simmons that paced the Bees in the second inning when they nicked Mungo for two runs. Al fired a whistling two-bagger against the left-field fence to start the inning and scored immediately thereafter on Tony Cuccinello's double to left center.

Tony took third on Fletcher's fly to right, remained there while Durocher fumbled Miller's grounder, then scored when Lopez bunted on a squeeze play.

The Bees scored their third run in the fourth inning, which Fletcher opened with a single to right. Fletcher advanced two bases on a wild pitch and scored while Lavagetto was booting Miller's grounder.

Four unproductive singles was the sum total of Brooklyn's hitting against Fette until the eighth. Then Oris Hockett batted for Mungo and singled. He went to third on Rosen's single to center and scored when Rabbit Warstler threw Lazeri out at first.

But Tony Cuccinello personally re-established the three-run Boston lead in the ninth when he whacked a home run into the left field seats against Ira Hutchinson.

The Bees are expected to feel the absence of the Simmons sock for the veteran has been hitting the ball heavily to date. Max West is due to open in left with Johnny Cooney in center and Bud Hassett in right.

Manager Casey Stengel stated today his pitching nominee would be Johnny Lanning, who will be making his first starting assignment of the season.

Challedon Fit and Ready For Ky. Derby

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 25 (AP)—A week ago Lou Schaefer said he'd take Challedon to Kentucky in top shape for the Derby and it looks as if the wily little trainer knew what he was talking about.

The W. L. Brann colt, making his first start since November, finished a good third in the Chesapeake Stakes here Saturday and Schaefer said afterwards the bay son of Challenger II and Laura Gal had cooled out in the very best of condition.

Challedon will be shipped to Louisville on Thursday, Schaefer said today, but whether or not the three-year-old is given another tightening race before the Derby depends on how he trains at Churchill Downs.

Never very voluble, Schaefer said only that he was highly pleased at the race. Jockey George Seabo gave Challedon in the mile-and-a-sixteenth Chesapeake. Challedon, a strong stretch runner, made his move at the three-quarter mile mark and overtook six rivals to finish third.

He was three lengths behind Wheatley's Stable's Gilded Knight, the winner, and a length and a half behind Alfred Vanderbilt's Impound, who finished second.

Vanderbilt's decision to pass up the Derby and save Impound for the Preakness left Challedon the only Maryland hope in the Blue-grass classic.

Brann, on whose Glade Valley farm Challedon was bred, said he was "more than pleased" with the colt's performance. But it remained for Mrs. Brann to speak out unreservedly for the colt.

"He ran a splendid race for his first start of the year and was by far the best member of the Chesapeake field," she said. "Absolutely he will win the Derby—he won't disappoint us now."

GEHRIG'S CASE SAD, SAYS BUCKY HARRIS

By WALTER KILEY

Jimmy "Double-X" Foxx is off on his home run journey . . . James Emory tied into one of Jimmy DeShong's choicest offerings in the fifth inning of the opener with the Senators . . . the ball, sailing high over the left-field screen, chased Joe Vosmik home ahead of him.

The Red Sox are back at their old habit . . . that of playing long ball games . . . Almost three hours on Sunday . . . nearly as long on Monday.

Bucky Harris, Nats' pilot, doesn't think too highly of the Yankees . . . He wasn't at all impressed with the New Yorkers during the recent series the Senators played the pennant favorites.

Handsome Bucky visions the end of the trail for Lou Gehrig . . . "Pitiful" was the way he described Louis recent first base performances and his attempts to return to batting proficiency . . . "Age has creeped up," he insists . . . Gehrig won't be in the lineup much longer, unless a miracle happens . . . Let him go on the way he is for a few days more and you'll see him yanked mighty quickly."

LEWIS IN HOSPITAL

Harris claims he can't get his full strength together long enough to test the Senators' ability . . . Buddy Lewis is latest of several damaging casualties . . . Lewis is laid up in a Washington hospital suffering from influenza . . . temperature over 101 at the last reading.

Jim Tabor's batting average climbed considerably when he collected four out of five hits on Monday . . . all singles . . . Doc Cramer is finding it hard to get the Fenway range . . . He went hitless in four trips Sunday and six times yesterday.

Eldon Auker who passed five batters in two-thirds of an inning on Sunday, was rushed in after Jake Wade had passed Gelbert in the eighth and had three balls on West . . . Auker added the necessary fourth ball for the walk.

GROVE ON FIRING LINE

Harris was taking no chances on Williams after reading what the youngster had accomplished in hitting on Sunday . . . He waved his outfielders to the far extremities every time Teddy came to bat . . . The Senators and Red Sox rated four umpires, Summers, Basil Ormsby and Pipgras . . . and there were no complaints or arguments with this quartet . . .

Ormsby hasn't been feeling any too well and Pipgras was brought up in the event that he should be needed.

Bob Grove will probably take his turn tomorrow . . . He will have had six days rest since he handcuffed the Yankees in the league opener at Yankee Stadium last Thursday . . . Bagby and Rich look to start in the two games with the New Yorkers on Thursday and Friday . . . The Sox then hit the trail . . . Playing single games with the Athletics at Philadelphia on Saturday and Sunday . . . Then opening a western swing with Cleveland on Tuesday.

Time Trials of Derby Hopefuls

By the Associated Press

Chief Onawa (Edward W. Duffy)—Won mile and one-sixteenth race at Jamaica in 1:45 2-5, beating three other Derby eligibles.

Book Pixie (Mrs. John D. Hertz) and Bostwar (Vera S. Bragg)—Ran second and third behind Chief Onawa, both within one length of winner.

Counterpoise (John Hay Whitney) — Fourth in same race after suffering interference.

Brazado (R. A. Kleburg)—Won six furlong race for maiden three-year-olds at Jamaica in 1:12 4-5.

'Gansett Rule Certain to Fill WPA Ranks

By DAVE WILSON

The momentum of Saturday's star spangled opening should carry the 'Gansett spring meeting along at a dizzy pace for the full 19 days—Judge James E Dooley doesn't agree with the croakers who said 'Gansett would have just as big crowds if a fence was built across the state line . . .

Over 6000 cash customers arrived by train Saturday . . . While the number who treked across the State line by motor couldn't be estimated . . . 'Gansett draws 'em from all over New England.

If the 'Gansett stewards stick to their proposed ruling that Jock's agents can act for only one rider, the ranks of the WPA will gain several recruits . . . Saturday's handle was the second largest opening day turnover ever registered.

In 1937 the handle was slightly higher when opening day followed closely the payment of the veterans' bonus . . . Texas trained horses hogged the spotlight Saturday . . . Tobe Trotter will start his Derby hopeful, Silent Witness, in the Woonsocket purse Wednesday, rain or shine.

It will be the colt's final tightener for the Kentucky classic.

Trainer John Breuse who conditions the string of B. A. Dario, Woonsocket automobile dealer, has finally made the grade . . . Hatless John has moved his stable from Mortgage avenue to Millionaires' row . . . horsemen are watching the outcome of Bob Shelley's move in substituting overnight handicaps for mid-week stakes.

The general opinion is that the overnights will fill better and supply better racing . . . The Portsmouth handicap, scheduled as next Saturday's feature has drawn 20 nominations . . . Belair stud has named Fighting Fox and Isolator for this event . . .

Phils' Walter Beck, Relief Ace, Kicking Around Since 1924

By the Associated Press

You dug down into the records and found his full name is "Walter William Beck," and that he was with Brooklyn back in 1034. That stamped him immediately. Once a Dodger, always a Dodger.

Then you looked back some more, and discovered this six-foot-two right-hander has been kicking around baseball for 15 years, that he was 33 years old last week, and that "way back in '24 he was with the St. Louis Browns before "graduating" to Double-A company.

There's a combination for you—the Dodgers and the Browns. So where does he land? Why, where else but the Phillies?

So step right up and say howdy to the relief hurler who's making talk in the National League.

He's from Decatur, Ill., has been with 12 clubs in eight leagues in 15 years, and the Phils signed him as a free agent this spring after he'd been knocking around the Pacific Coast League four seasons, winning 59 and losing 71.

He was let out there last summer because of an injured hip and weak eyes, but he got those fixed up.

STOPS GIANTS

Since the season opened a week ago, Walter William has been earning his steak and beans. He has saved two games and won another for the Phils, and is the big reason why Doc Prothro's pretty boys are breathing the unfamiliar and rarefied air of the National League's first division.

Last week he went three scoreless innings against the Dodgers in one game to save a 12-inning tie. Two days later he was back against Brooklyn in the 12th inning and won.

Yesterday Doc Prothro gave him the hurry call again, against the Giants. The New Yorkers had pushed across five runs off Max Butcher and Jim Henry in a big eighth inning and had the winning runs on base.

Our hero ambled in from the bullpen and proceeded to give the business to Bill Terry's heaviest ball belters.

He got Harry Danning on a grounder to end the eighth and then in the ninth fanned Master Melvin Ott and Frank Demaree and retired Bananas Bonura on a fly to rescue a 6-5 win for the Phils.

This boosted the Quaker City citizens into fourth place and dropped the Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals downstairs. The Cards and Cincinnati Reds were idle.

WHITEHILL SLICK

The Chicago Cubs and New York Yankees, last year's pennant winners, stayed out in front in their respective loops, with no signs of being overhauled.

The Cubs knocked off the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6 to 2, with that ex-American Leaguer, Lefty Earl Whitehill, turning in a six-hitter in his first seven innings as a Cub.

The Yanks' crooning cowboy, stylish Monte Pearson, twirled a four-hitter to beat the Athletics, 2 to 1.

A couple of 32-year-olds, Tommy Bridges and Lou Fette, also had a hand in the day's pitching classics, each winning his second decision of the season with a six-inning elbowing job.

Tennessee Tommy fanned five in tossing the Tigers to a 4-2 edge over the Browns, and Missouri Lou breezed in with a 4-1 decision for Boston's Bees over the Dodgers, thereby pinning a defeat on Van Mungo in Mungo's first start since last August.

1. Press photog gets his pix under difficulties . . . Launce Haugwitz-Reventlow, son of Barbara Hutton, as he is shielded by nurse and two men on arrival at Palm Beach, Fla.

Death on Wheels—A view of the scene on the highway near Bellmore, L. I., after two men had been killed and three seriously injured when car in which they were riding struck a pole and practically disintegrated. Dead men are shown in foreground. One of injured holds head as he sits on seat of wrecked car.
